

GLYNN'S PLAN IS ISOLATE SULZER

New Executive Chamber Is to Be Designated
To-day.

NO CALL ON CARMODY

Acting Governor's Friends
Expect No Court
Contest.

IMPEACHMENT LAWYERS

Brackett, Stanchfield, Jerome and Richards to Prosecute
at Trial on Sept. 18.

ALBANY, Aug. 17.—To isolate Gov. Sulzer in his office on the second floor of the Capitol; to designate the Lieutenant-Governor's room on the third floor, to-morrow, as the Executive Chamber and to turn the State administration with the recognition of nearly all the heads of departments and bureaus in the present programme of acting Governor Glynn. He expects no clash and his friends look for the Governor to make no court fight before the impeachment trial on September 18.

Acting Governor Martin H. Glynn spent the day quietly with Mrs. Glynn at their summer home on the banks of the Hudson six miles below Albany. Their visitors included a few personal friends and newspaper men.

Gov. Sulzer had a restful day at the Executive Mansion. He was with Mrs. Sulzer most of the time except when he took a two hours automobile ride alone.

At no point in Mr. Glynn's present course will force be used either to get possession of the Executive Chamber suite or Executive papers, nor will anything be done personally discourteous to Gov. Sulzer in any way. Both Gov. Sulzer and Mr. Glynn have surrendered their prerogatives to their attorneys in the sense that neither will make an official move or attach his signature to an official paper before counsel retained by each passes on the act.

For this reason neither will discuss his official future until after he has performed some official act which has been backed up by the advice of his attorneys.

Prosecution Gets Lawyers.

To match the legal talent retained by Gov. Sulzer, the board of managers appointed by the Assembly to appear before the court of impeachment has retained as counsel Edgar T. Brackett, John H. Stanchfield, William Travers Jerome and Eugene Lamb Richards.

In addition Mr. Glynn is advised personally by ex-Judge Edwin Countryman and P. C. Dugan.

When the trustees of State Public Buildings meet to-morrow afternoon they will pass a resolution designating the suite of rooms now used by the Lieutenant-Governor as the Executive Chamber. Mr. Glynn said to-night:

"The Executive Chamber is where the Governor is, and a person is not Governor merely because he is occupying rooms. I have heretofore been designated as the Executive Chamber."

The employees of the Executive Chamber will be notified that if they desire to receive their pay on the first of the month from the State Comptroller they had better recognize acting Governor Glynn or they may find new appointees doing their work. It is not believed it would take much coercion to induce the Civil Service Commission to recognize Glynn as acting Governor.

Riley and the Thaw Escape.

In view of the prompt recognition of acting Governor Glynn by Adj.-Gen. Hamilton it is not expected that by the end of a week or ten days Gov. Sulzer will be recognized by any State Department heads except Highway Commissioners Carlisle and Superintendent of Prisons John H. Riley.

It was said to-night that if Mr. Riley persisted in declining to recognize Mr. Glynn the acting Governor might believe he had ample reason to remove Mr. Riley for not taking precautions to prevent the escape of Harry K. Thaw from Matteawan. Testimony before the Carlisle committee of inquiry, which resulted in the retirement of Dr. John W. Russell as superintendent of Matteawan and the conviction of John N. Ambrose because of the Thaw $25,000 bribery fund, has been at his disposal and within his knowledge.

Acting Governor Glynn sent telegrams to-night to Supt. Riley at Plattburgh and to Dr. Raymond F. Kiehl, superintendent of Matteawan State Hospital, as follows:

"Please telegraph me immediately all details you have about the escape from Matteawan of Harry K. Thaw." The telegrams were signed "Acting Governor Martin H. Glynn."

Gov. Sulzer's abrupt dismissal of Col. Joseph P. Scott as State Superintendent of Prisons has never been accepted as final by Col. Scott's many friends, and it was suggested to-night that unless Supt. Riley and Supt. Kiehl have pretty good excuses to give for Thaw's escape Col. Scott may be restored to his post as State Superintendent of Prisons in short order by acting Governor Glynn.

Gossip About Carlisle.

Mr. Riley's removal would leave John N. Carlisle as the only Sulzer appointee. Some profess to believe that Mr. Carlisle would not take long to make up his mind to recognize acting Governor Glynn and to dismiss John A. Hennessy, who got $4,700 a year as his confidential agent.

It is in this way that acting Governor Glynn and his advisers expect to isolate Gov. Sulzer in the Executive Chamber with no executive business seeking his action. It is planned that none of the Democratic

PRINCETON STUDENTS RUN FARM.

Six Undergraduates Till 300 Acres During Vacation.

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 17.—Within 100 yards of the Princeton University campus a farm of 300 acres is being cultivated by six undergraduates of that institution. In a few weeks the crops from this acreage will be dispensed to the students of Princeton and the summer work of the six college farmers will close.

In connection with the Princeton University farm, as this land is now called, many interesting features have been produced. Chief among these is the fact that the work of the college men is done strictly on honor system, each man acting as his own timekeeper.

Last year a squad of fifteen was needed to till but thirty-six acres, but this year the capacity of the men was increased by the introduction of modern appliances for the cultivation of the land. This season the farm is being cultivated in the following apportionments: Hay, 120 acres; corn, 30 acres; rye, 25 acres; potatoes, 15 acres; wheat, 5 acres; truck, 5 acres.

A part of this year's innovations was the allotment of half an acre to each man, which he cultivated personally in leisure moments and from which he will receive all the proceeds. An average day on the farm nine hours and the students are paid 20 cents an hour, exclusive of their proceeds from their private half acre.

KNOCKED FROM BOAT, PICKED UP BY ANOTHER

Brooklyn Salesman Beaten on Priscilla and Rescued by Tennessee.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 17.—Beaten into unconsciousness on the Fall River liner Priscilla and thrown overboard only to be picked up by the Bay State liner Tennessee was the unusual experience of Hugh Sullivan of 42 Lee avenue, Newport.

Sullivan, who is a salesman for the Morris Shoe Company of Brooklyn, left New York last evening on his way to Newport to spend his vacation with his parents. He met a young woman, and about 11 o'clock went out on the second deck aft, where the orchestra was playing.

Some one made a disparaging remark, which Sullivan promptly resented. A fight followed and Sullivan was hit on the head and knocked overboard.

Just before midnight Pilot Warren Brown of the Tennessee heard a call for help, stopped the engines and threw a searchlight over the water. It was only a minute or two before Sullivan was picked up by the Tennessee.

He turned the steamer toward the spot where Sullivan, almost exhausted, was struggling to keep afloat.

Passengers who lined the rail three life buoys to him. One fell near enough for Sullivan to grasp it and the nerve that kept him afloat up to that time left him.

By the time the steamer's boat reached him he had collapsed.

At the Rhode Island Hospital Sullivan said he remembered being rushed to the steamer's rail, clubbed and landed in the water. He has two bad scalp wounds and loss of blood coupled with exhaustion of keeping afloat completely exhausted him.

As soon as he gained consciousness in the water Sullivan succeeded in getting out of his coat. He could not explain how he managed to keep afloat so long, but said he saw a light and started to swim toward it. It proved to be the Tennessee's searchlight.

IMPALED ON OWN HANDLEBAR.

Cyclist, Going a Mile a Minute,
Killed at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 17.—Charles Dreyer, 24 years old, of Cologne, N. J., was killed and three others were badly hurt in the vicinity of Egg Harbor to-day in a series of motor cycle and automobile accidents.

Dreyer, riding his motor cycle from the Gallows Social Hall, where he had been playing in the orchestra at a dance, was making more than a mile a minute in an effort to get home for an accordion and back to the hall inside of seven minutes. As he took a corner the machine skidded in the soft sand.

The motor cyclist ran head on into a telegraph pole. He was horribly injured. When found about five minutes later by friends who had heard the crash, Dreyer's body was wedged against the pole. One end of the handlebar had been forced clear through his body and protruded several inches from his back. He was badly crushed about the shoulders and head and died twenty minutes later.

James Cavallucci, another motor cyclist, turned a curve on the same road this afternoon and ran directly in front of the automobile owned and driven by H. H. McClintock of 1937 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia. He was hurt about the arms and head, but will recover. The automobilist was arrested.

James Kelly of Twenty-fifth and Jefferson streets, Philadelphia, lost control of his automobile on the pike at noon and the machine turned over. Michael J. Dougan, who, with Michael McDonnell, was a passenger, got a broken shoulder blade and several crushed ribs. He was also hurt internally.

McDonnell has a broken nose and cheekbone and severe contusions. Vandalism stripped the car while the injured passengers were at the physician's office.

LIGHTNING HITS AXE; KILLS MAN

Electrical Storm Also Strikes Buildings in Braddock, Pa.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 17.—One man was killed and two other men were injured by lightning during a storm at Braddock this afternoon.

Three men were putting up a canvas canopy when lightning struck an axe that one man was using to drive stakes. He was killed and the other two were injured.

Several residences in Braddock were struck by lightning. The Belle Avenue school was damaged to the extent of $15,000 by a fire after lightning struck the building. Street car traffic was tied up because of washouts in the town and suburbs, 100 cars being put out of commission by lightning.

RUSSIAN COUNTESS STRANGLER ON TRAIN

Mme. Tarnowska, Notorious as Adventuress, Meets Death at Last.

IT MAY BE A SUICIDE

Woman Conspired With Two
Lovers to Kill Another
Admirer.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says that Countess Tarnowska, the notorious adventuress, who was sentenced to eight years imprisonment at Venice two years ago for her part in the murder of Count Kamorowsky, but who was pardoned afterward and expelled from Italy, was found dead in a railroad car in which she was travelling from St. Petersburg to Kiev to-day. She had been strangled by a silk scarf.

The affair is a mystery. The circumstances seem compatible with the theory of either murder or suicide.

Another report received here says the first class reserved compartment occupied by the Countess was found locked when the train reached Dombrovitsa. The trainmen broke open the door and made an examination. They found the Countess, who was travelling alone, hanging by a towel from a baggage rack.

There is little doubt but that she had committed suicide. Her money and valuable jewels had not been touched.

The murder trial in which the Countess Maria Tarnowska was the principal defendant was a famous one. It was held in the Tribunal of Justices at Venice in 1903 and lasted 100 days. Twelve years previously the woman had married Count Kamorowsky, a Russian nobleman. She was not happy with her husband and showed affection for a young officer whom the husband shot and killed. The husband was tried and acquitted. Later he obtained a divorce.

During the divorce proceedings she met a young lawyer named Prilukoff who fell violently in love with her. At the same time a young doctor named Naumoff also became enamored of the woman. Meantime Count Kamorowsky, a wealthy Russian, wanted to marry her and insured his life for $100,000 in her favor. The Countess succeeded in making both Prilukoff and Naumoff jealous and planned to have them kill the Count so that she could collect the insurance.

Naumoff killed the Count in Venice, and Prilukoff, who had followed the doctor there, intended to kill Naumoff after the latter had made away with Kamorowsky. His plans miscarried and the two men, the Countess and the latter's maid, Elise Perrier, were arrested for the murder.

The Countess, lawyer Prilukoff and Dr. Naumoff were found guilty and the maid was acquitted.

The jury found that the Countess and Naumoff were not fully responsible for their acts and they were sentenced to eight and three years imprisonment respectively. Prilukoff was sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

WANT GERMANY TO ALTER PLANS

Southern Part of Empire Favors
Participation in Exposition.

Special Cable Dispatches to The Sun.
BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Opinion here is sharply divided in regard to the Government's action in declining the invitation of the American Government to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco.

The Tagblatt declares the action of the German Government is a great mistake. There is much disappointment over the decision in shipping circles and in industrial quarters in south Germany.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The newspapers continue to discuss the participation of Great Britain in the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The Standard strongly advocates participation by England and says that the decision of Germany to abstain from taking part in the show creates an additional reason why Great Britain should be represented. The paper declares that there is a large and growing volume of opinion in favor of such action by this country.

The Daily News and Leader, while expressing its belief in the truth of the statement that manufacturers are tired of such exhibitions, says that if official participation would insure an adequate British display the Government might well stretch a point. It adds: "Great Britain ought on moral grounds to be represented, but she must be represented worthily or not at all."

A BARON FLIES THE CHANNEL.

Lord Carbery, 31 Years Old, First
Peer to Do It.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Baron Carbery of County Cork, Ireland, is the first peer to cross the British Channel in an aeroplane. He made the trip from Paris to Hendon to-day and landed in the aerodrome at the latter place without mishap.

Lord Carbery, who is only 31 years old, obtained a pilot's certificate three weeks ago. He practised for about two months before that time.

GIRL IN COMA NOT YET AWAKE.

Jeannette Gundersman Still Seems Near Consciousness.

Jeannette Gundersman, who has been in a trance since August 1 at the Hydropathic Institute, 2011 Madison avenue, was reported yesterday to be opening her eyes and moving her arms and feet.

Proprietor Hermann Reichmann believes she will be able to talk within the week. When taken to the Institute she was incapable of any movement, and lay as if dead.

Noble Sister Comes Bad Injury.

LAWSON, Mass., Aug. 17.—Miss Dorothy Sherman of Brockton, who was in a row boat to-day and her collarbone was fractured by the fall. She was attended by a surgeon at Heaton Hall.

"UNCLE JOE" TO COME BACK.

All Illinois Defeated Congressmen to Try Again in 1914.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Ex-Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and all of the other defeated Illinois Republican Congressmen at the last November election are planning a huge "comeback" party in 1914. Those who went down to defeat in the Democratic landslide and who will seek "vindication" besides Cannon include William B. McKinley, John A. Steiwer, George W. Pringle, Charles L. Fuller, George E. Foss, William A. Rodenberg and William W. Wilson.

Republican State leaders also believe that Minority Leader Mann and Representative Martin B. Madden will also seek re-nomination.

The political situation in Illinois is such that the claims of the "exes" cannot be overlooked in getting together an organization to make the next State fight.

CONSUL FLEES FROM GENEVA.

Mexican Representative Borrowed
Much Money and Gave Dinner.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
GENEVA, Aug. 17.—Senor de Sarak, the Mexican Consul here has disappeared, leaving big debts behind him. He borrowed money to a large amount in Geneva in Switzerland. He gave a dinner to the other Consuls and the local authorities at a leading hotel recently at a cost of $500. This bill is still unpaid.

Unless the Mexican Government settles the debts of Senor de Sarak a warrant will be issued for his arrest.

RUMOR OF A PLOT TO KILL LORD KITCHENER

London Police Searching for Egyptian Student Who Lately Left Oxford.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Daily Express prints a story to the effect that the Government has learned of a plot by the Egyptian Nationalists to murder Lord Kitchener, British Agent and Consul-General in Egypt since 1911. Lord Kitchener has been staying in England for some weeks.

The Scotland Yard authorities are looking for an Egyptian student who was lately at Oxford and who is alleged to have been engineering the plot for the assassination of Lord Kitchener through an Egyptian Nationalist society. This student is closely associated with Mohammed Farid Bey, the notorious Egyptian Nationalist extremist. It was Farid Bey who at the National Egyptian Congress at Brussels in September, 1910, denounced Col. Theodore Roosevelt. Roosevelt, it may be remembered, criticised England for its alleged neglect of affairs in Egypt as the "threat bearer of Sir Edward Grey," the British Minister of Foreign Affairs.

At the same congress, which was forbidden to name French territory, Farid Bey declared that the programme of the "Young Egypt" party consisted only of two words, "evacuation" and "constitution." He declared that nothing could stop this programme, not even the speeches of British Ministers nor the "twaddle" of Col. Roosevelt.

The jury found that the Countess and Naumoff were not fully responsible for their acts and they were sentenced to eight and three years imprisonment respectively. Prilukoff was sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

SLOCUM VICTIM A SUICIDE.

Brooklyn Man Who Lost Part of Family Kills Himself.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—A man, who committed suicide here last Tuesday night by drinking carbolic acid on the street was identified positively to-day as W. J. McMullen, a wealthy resident of the Borough of Brooklyn, New York city, who had been missing for some years.

Before drinking the poison McMullen wrote an explanatory note signed "A. S. Brown," in which he said that he proposed taking his own life because he feared he was going crazy again. McMullen's brother and sister live at Miami, Fla., and his two daughters by his first wife live in Brooklyn.

McMullen's second wife and five children were lost in the disaster at Slocum. This is said to have been the cause of McMullen's mind becoming unbalanced. Ever since the Slocum disaster he had been a wanderer, using assumed names, and twice had been in insane asylums. McMullen had been in Atlanta nearly two months and had assumed the names of J. W. Miller, A. W. Mullens, R. W. White and A. S. Brown.

Telegrams from two Brooklyn real estate companies say that McMullen had property worth $200,000 in that city. He also had a large sum on deposit here.

In the official list of the victims of the General Slocum disaster the name, McMullen, does not appear, but the name, Brown, did several times. Many persons, who were never identified, perished in the disaster.

PRISONER IS PAT CROWE.

Man Held as Vagrant Answers All Questions Correctly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Further evidence was found to-day indicating that the man who was arrested here as a vagrant under the name of King is Pat Crowe, who gained notoriety by kidnapping Eddie Cudahy, son of the Omaha packer, in 1900.

A reporter who gained admission to King in the Washington asylum where he is under observation fired question after question at him. Prompt answers seemed to establish beyond doubt that he is the kidnapper.

"Who was the Chief of Police in Omaha at the time of the kidnapping?" he was asked.

"Why, Donohue," was the reply.

"Can you remember where the Cudahy house was?"

"At the corner of Thirty-seventh and Harney streets," he answered without hesitation.

"When my pal, Callahan, and myself kidnapped Cudahy," he said, "we decided to hold him for a ransom of $500,000, but another job on which we could pull down something like a million came along our minds and we decided to lower the ransom to $25,000. Cal was prone to treat Eddie rather roughly, but I liked the kid and saw that he was made comfortable."

HARRY THAW ESCAPES FROM MATTEAWAN IN THRILLING DASH

Thaw Free Outside New York

It was the consensus yesterday among persons versed in matters of extradition that Harry K. Thaw once out of the State cannot be brought back.

District Attorney Whitman said that no extradition law permits the return of an insane patient from one State to another.

Francis P. Garvan said that Thaw outside of New York is as good as free, that he is not a fugitive from justice, that no indictment remains against him and that there is no legal way to bring him back.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss said that Thaw was confined in Matteawan not as a criminal, but as one who was mentally unfit to be at large, and that it was impossible to extradite a man for his disease.

The only chance, and that a very slim one, for authorities to bring Thaw into the State, according to general opinion, was that Thaw committed a crime in the assault of the hospital guard, a crime for which he may be extradited.

$11,624,122 ESTATE SINKS TO $3,000,000

Referee's Report to Court on Garner & Co. Properties
Explains Drop.

Dwindled Million a Year

Settling of Litigation Recalls
Sinking of Mohawk and Owner's Death.

How an estate of $11,624,122 could dwindle to less than $3,000,000 in seven years, or more than $1,000,000 a year, is shown in the accounting of Garner & Co., the cotton goods firm at West Broadway and Worth street, as executor under the will of its founder, William T. Garner. The figures were submitted to Abraham Stern, appointed referee to pass on the accounting, and the facts set forth before Referee Stern make his report an interesting and surprising document. The report was approved by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum on Saturday.

William T. Garner established himself as a cotton goods merchant more than six years ago, and in his day his firm was reckoned one of the largest and wealthiest operators and converters in cotton fabrics, the house doing its own spinning, weaving, bleaching, dyeing and printing. Mr. Garner was one of the founders of the New York Yacht Club, and later became its commodore. On July 29, 1876, Commodore Garner and his wife were drowned when his yacht, the Mohawk, capsized off Staten Island. He was then only 36 years old.

Five Go Down With Mohawk.

On the afternoon of July 29, 1876, the schooner yacht Mohawk, the largest and most luxuriously furnished yacht of that day, capsize opposite Stapleton, Staten Island, and Commodore William T. Garner, of the New York Yacht Club, his wife, Miss Adele Hunter, daughter of Deane Hunter, and the second steward and cook were drowned. Others in the party, who were saved, were Col. Schuyler Crosby, Louis B. Montaut and Gardiner G. Howland. For months the sinking of the Mohawk and its attending loss of life was the topic of conversation in the hotels and clubs in Europe and this country.

The Mohawk was anchored about 500 yards from the New York Yacht Club and Mr. Garner and his party went aboard in a steam launch. The yacht carried 32,000 square feet of sail and was getting under way to go down the bay when she was struck by a violent squall that threw her on her beam ends, sinking her immediately. Mr. and Mrs. Garner, with Miss Hunter, had hurried to the saloon below deck as the storm approached and were caught there when the boat sank. Their bodies were found next day when divers were put to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner had three daughters, Marcellite, Florence and Edith. The effect of the death of both parents upon the three daughters was such that they were sent abroad, where they were educated. Under their father's will his entire estate was left in trust, with the provision that the business of Garner & Co. was to be continued until after the death of his wife and his daughter Florence. When the latter died the business was to be wound up and the estate distributed.

Daughters Have Large Income.

The three daughters, who had a large income in the years after their parents' death, all married titled foreigners. Marcellite married the Marquis de Breteuil, Florence became the wife of Sir William Gordon-Cumming, a hero of many British wars, who now owns 35,000 acres of land in New Brunswick, and Edith became the Countess de Moltke-Hultfeldt, whose husband is wealthy.

Mr. Garner's firm, which later became a corporation, was named as administrator of the estate in 1902 after the three executors appointed in the will had died or resigned. The accounting, which has been approved by Justice Greenbaum, covers the period from February 15, 1905, when the last accounting was made, to May 31, 1912, during which period the character of the estate was changed completely.

When the accounts were judicially settled in 1905 and the valuation fixed at $11,624,122 it consisted of cotton mills and the business of selling the goods of Garner & Co. Justice Greenbaum fixed the value of the estate on May 31, 1912, at $2,508,974, comprising cash, securities and mortgages exclusively. There is no other case on record in the courts in which the character of an estate has been changed entirely within the period of an accounting.

What promised to be a long extended

MORE BURGLARIES AT LENOX.

Thistle-down, the David Lydig Place,
Entered and Ransacked.

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 17.—Although there were a dozen new watchmen on guard and six special policemen patrolling the streets two more attempts at burglary occurred last night.

Thistle-down, the country place of Mr. and Mrs. David Lydig, was entered and after ransacking the lower floor the thieves disappeared at Hidden House, the Ross W. Wheeler place, where they were frightened off on Friday morning.

This time they were unable to gain an entrance to the villa.

Vandalism entered the Bellefontaine property of Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster last Thursday night and destroyed several terra cotta statues which were set up at the main drive. These statues were copies of figures in the Versailles gardens and were made and imported for the Bellefontaine drive. They were set up at the end of the villa.

A feature of the drive is a small temple with a marble figure of Adonis. This statue was overturned. Police believe that the mischief was the work of drunken youths, who have been under suspicion of having committed some of the burglaries in Lenox. It is said that the damage to the Foster property will reach $5,000.

GAMBLER ON HUNGER STRIKE.

Man Caught Playing "Fan Trick" at Deauville Casino.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
DEAUVILLE, Aug. 17.—A man was arrested at the Casino on Saturday night on a charge of playing the fan trick, by which he was able to increase his stake 200 francs. The bills were slipped onto the table under cover of a fan which he held in his hand when the croupier was paying the winner.

This man possessed entry cards to Aix-les-Bains, Nice, Boulogne and other casinos. He gave the name of Frank Perry and said he was a Brazilian. He was arrested and placed in jail. He refused to take any food since his arrest.

NO LONGER ROOSEVELT GUARDS.

Jewish Militia Company Changes
Name, Calling Colonel "Dead One."

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 17.—The Roosevelt Guards, the only Jewish militia company in the State, has decided after a bitter fight to change the name to the Hebrew Guards.

Some of the members threatened to resign if the old name were retained, saying Roosevelt was "a dead one" and the company should not entangle itself with a leader of a political party who had passed the climax of his career.

The guards were organized when Roosevelt was President and named in his honor. The honorary title has been dropped by a vote of two-thirds of the membership.

ASTOR ON BATTLESHIP TRIP.

Boards Utah at Newport To-day to See Mannuvas.

NEWPORT, Aug. 17.—Vincent Astor is to take a trip on one of the battleships to-morrow.

He will go out on the Utah when the fleet leaves in the morning for the purpose of seeing some of the maneuvers of the big ships.

BLOODGOOD NEAR TO RECOVERY.

Healer May Be Arraigned for Attempted Suicide Shortly.

HARRY Lattimer Bloodgood was reported yesterday at Bellevue to be in a fair way to recovery. The doctors say there is no reason why he should not be discharged on the charge of attempted suicide shortly. He is still under arrest.

His mother visited him yesterday and brought down word of the brokers' increased cheerfulness.
